

Project Profile

Hayward Gallery | Waterloo Sunset Pavilion

Client	South Bank Centre
Client Sector	Leisure Arts
Project Value	£2m
Services Provided	Project Management Quantity Surveying Planning Supervisor
Project Size
Architect	Haworth Tompkins Architects Dan Graham
Contractors

Conceived as a 'drop in centre for children and old people and a space for viewing cartoons', Dan Graham's Waterloo Sunset at the Hayward Gallery is a space for social interaction, learning and fun that is open during and in between exhibitions.

The space houses six touch-sensitive monitors showing cartoons selected by Dan Graham, artist's videos from the Arts Council Collection and new media commissions. It includes:

- Extended glazed foyer area.
- Improved disabled access.
- Café facility opens all year round and accessible without an exhibition ticket.

Client Benefits:

- Provision of integrated Project Management, Quantity Surveying and Planning Supervisor services enabled single point of responsibility
- Preparation of Lottery bids